WATER WAY TO HELP

ECHO'S TOY APPEAL

WATERCRESS is full of nutritional benefits, but now growers have shared extra goodness with their donation to the Echo Christmas Toy Appeal.

The Watercress Company, at Waddock Cross, Dorchester, has ensured that needy children across the county will receive a present this Christmas thanks to their £100 donation.

Managing director Tom Amery said: "The Watercress Company is delighted to be able to help support such a special appeal again.

"We would like to thank all of the volunteers helping this year."

With little more than a fortnight left until the big day, this donation will top up the funds raised and ensure that every child who has signed up receives a present this Christmas.

Toy bins across Dorset have collected hundreds of presents ready to be opened by excited children on Christmas Day.

The donation will top up funds raised and presents collected to ensure that every child will get a treat on December 25.

Tom added: "Most of all we would like to wish a very happy Christmas to all the children who will be receiving a present from the appeal."

Good try from players

A GROUP of young rugby players have given to the Echo Christmas Toy Appeal so that other children can share the festive spirit.

Weymouth Rugby Football Club's under-nines team originally organised a sponsored charity rugby run and bake sale for Children in Need.

But after raising more than £800 they decided to donate some of that to the Toy Appeal.

Team member Toby Diment-Aylott, eight, said: "It's sad for other children of many charity events organised by the youngsters.

For last year's Children in Need, the boys skateboarded six miles to raise £350.

Toby's mother Lyndsey said: "The team are all lucky boys who are going to get brilliant presents and have a great time this Christmas.

"They thought it would be nice to give a donation to those children in the local area who aren't as lucky at this time of the year."
